

Kostas Glinos, European Commission: Open Science: Quo Vadis?

Monday, 30 May 2022 11:35 (25 minutes)

The COVID-19 pandemic demonstrated the benefits of open and rapid sharing of research results, but it also revealed the limitations of the current research systems and infrastructures. In this talk, I will discuss some of the challenges the conduct of science faces today, how Open Science policies and practices can help us address them, and what else we will need to do to make the pursuit of new knowledge more effective and efficient.

Session Classification: Opening session