

Contribution ID: 8

Type: not specified

Threat modeling: The single most effective security habit your team should start doing

Tuesday, 27 June 2023 13:45 (45 minutes)

From its inception in the nineties where threat modeling was an artifact-heavy beast and mostly used as a formality, the method is now a light-weight conversation and design tool used directly by the development teams.

In this session I will show you how you can lead your team to new insights about the system you're building and an understanding of the surrounding threat landscape, using just a whiteboard and a few simple questions.

Have you presented this talk before

No

Talk length

45

Primary author: ÖREBRAND, Markus (OWASP)

Presenter: ÖREBRAND, Markus (OWASP)

Session Classification: Talks

Track Classification: Talks